1. Aims

The aims of Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) in our academies are to:

- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene
- Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships
- Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies
- Enable all of our pupils to live and work effectively in our diverse society

2. Statutory requirements

Our academies must provide relationships education to all pupils as per Section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017.

All of our academies follow the National Curriculum. This includes the requirement to teach Science including the elements of sex education contained within the Science Programme of Study.

In teaching RSE, our academies are required by their funding agreements to have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

All of our academies teach RSE as set out in their individual RSE Policy Statements, reflecting the requirements of this document (the Trust RSE Policy), and the document Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education: Statutory guidance for governing bodies, proprietors, head teachers, principals, senior leadership teams, teachers (DfE 2019).

All of our academies use the Jigsaw PSHE Programme to support their teaching of RSE, including sex education.

3. Policy development

Greenheart Learning Partnership (GLP) academies must consult with parents, staff, governors and where appropriate, children/students when developing or making changes to their RSE policies. Below is an example of what this consultation could look like:

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

Review – a member of staff or working group pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance.

1 Staff consultation – all academy staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations

2 Parent/stakeholder consultation – parents and any interested parties were invited to attend a meeting about the policy

3 Pupil consultation – we investigated what exactly pupils want from their RSE

4 Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with Trustees and ratified

4. Definition

RSE is about the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, sexual health, sexuality, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity.

RSE involves a combination of sharing information, and exploring issues and values.

5. Curriculum

Each academy must develop its curriculum in consultation with parents, carers, pupils and staff, taking into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils. Academies must ensure that if pupils ask questions outside the scope of the academy's RSE policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner to ensure that pupils are fully informed and don't seek answers online. Academies must ensure that where teachers are unsure of the answer to a question, or are uncomfortable with its content, they know which member of staff to speak to for advice.

The RSE policy/curriculum of every GLP primary academy must include a sex education programme tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of its pupils. The academy should ensure that both boys and girls are prepared for the changes that adolescence brings and – drawing on knowledge of the human life cycle set out in the National Curriculum for Science - how a baby is conceived and born.

Detailed information about each academy's RSE Policy should be included in the Appendix referred to above.

6. Delivery of RSE

In GLP primary academies, relationships education should focus on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships including:

- Families and people who care for me
- Caring friendships

- Respectful relationships
- Online relationships
- Being safe

All GLP primary academies will teach a bespoke Sex Education programme in addition to what is covered in the Science National Curriculum. The content of this must be detailed in an appendix to the academy's RSE Policy.

In all GLP academies, these areas of learning must be taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

7. Roles and responsibilities

Governance

The Partnership Trust Board has responsibility for the approval of RSE Policies for each academy. However, the policy must be consistent with this document, the Trust RSE Policy. The Partnership will hold the headteacher of its academy to account for the implementation of the policy.

Designated Partnership officers will monitor the implementation and impact of RSE policy in each academy as part of the Partnership's ongoing challenge, support and quality assurance programme.

The Headteacher

The headteacher of each GLP academy is responsible for ensuring that RSE is taught consistently across the academy, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-statutory/non-science components of RSE (see section 8).

Staff

Staff within GLP academies are responsible for:

- Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- Modelling positive attitudes to RSE
- Monitoring progress
- Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- Responding appropriately/as directed by the headteacher to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-statutory/non-science components of RSE

Staff in GLP academies do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE should discuss this with the academy's headteacher. Within its RSE Policy each academy must clearly indicate the names/roles of those people in the academy who are responsible for teaching RSE.

Pupils

GLP academies must ensure that pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and, when discussing issues related to RSE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Parents' right to withdraw

Parents of children in GLP primary academies do not have the right to withdraw their children from Relationships Education, or the Sex Education components of the Science National Curriculum.

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory/non-science components of sex education within RSE as outlined in the academy's RSE Policy.

Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using a standard form included as an appendix to the academy's RSE Policy and addressed to the headteacher. The headteacher will discuss requests with the child's parent/carer and take appropriate action. Requests will not be discussed with the child.

Alternative work and supervision will be provided for pupils who are withdrawn from non-statutory elements of sex education.

9. Training

Staff in GLP academies must be appropriately trained on the delivery of RSE as part of their induction, and it must be included as part of each academy's professional development cycle. Senior leaders will work with all staff to identify and address all training and support needs relating to the delivery of the academy's RSE Policy.

The headteacher of each academy will invite visitors from outside the academy, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSE as appropriate/required.

10. Monitoring arrangements

Each academy's RSE Policy must identify a member of staff who is responsible for monitoring the delivery of RSE. The policy should include a brief statement outlining the academy's arrangements for monitoring the delivery of RSE.

Pupils' development in RSE should be monitored by class teachers as part of each academy's internal assessment systems.

The Partnership Trust Board will review the Trust RSE Policy annually.
